2.0 MARKET ANALYSIS 8

Introduction 8

Market size, growth and segmentation 9

Overview 9

Health insurance premiums have outgrown those for accident insurance in recent years 9

Most accident and health cover sold in Belgium takes the form of group business 10

Mutual insurers underwrite a significant proportion of the Belgian health insurance market… 12

… due to mandatory payments to them by individuals residing and working in Belgium 12

Accident insurance 13

Occupational accident insurance is the largest category within the market for accident insurance… 13

… while premiums for group personal (non-sport) accident cover have been rising most rapidly 13

Health insurance 16

Premiums for individual medical expenses insurance grew most rapidly between 2012 and 2016… 16

… while those in the smaller market for dental insurance have made the least progress 16

Distribution 19

Overview 19

Accident and health cover is mostly distributed directly by both commercial and mutual insurers 19

Affinity and corporate partnerships 19

Accident insurance is marketed through partnerships more often than the various types of health cover… 19

… which is partly a consequence of the substantial number of schemes set up with sports organisations 20

Most programs not dealt with internally are placed with a single, external underwriter 21

Sports insurance specialist Arena and DKV hold the highest share of partnerships… 22

… followed by AG Insurance and Ethias 22

Key competitors 24

A number of brokers are likely to be strong as intermediaries of accident and health insurance 24

Forecasts 24
Overview 24
Further steady growth is predicted for the Belgian accident and health insurance market up to 2020 24
